

The Auburn School

NURTURING UNIQUE MINDS

Designed to help bright students discover their untapped potential, our private day school provides small classroom settings that are nurturing, respectful, safe, and upbeat.

The Auburn School accepts both private-pay students and students referred by their local school systems. Through individualized support, academic rigor, and research-based social learning, our students shine at school, at home, and in their community.

By recognizing the unique value and talents of each student, celebrating their daily successes, and building strong relationships with them and their families, The Auburn School goes beyond what traditional classrooms can provide. Our challenging curriculum is grounded in evidence-based, data-driven instruction, and helps bright students achieve academic success while also developing social and communication skills.
