Catapult Learning

Getting a Head Start on 35p planning

Outlining your approach to student support can help you prepare for 35p. Use these prompts to clarify what you know, what's still open, and who should join the planning conversation.

Start with	Write down
School fit	Which schools might participate? When could tutoring fit without replacing core instruction or required services?
Student need	Which grades, subjects, or student groups are the priority?
Program design	Who should weigh in on curriculum, schedules, data, and the fiscal agent?
One open question	What is the biggest decision your team needs help making?

Catapult Learning

Bring this to a 35p planning conversation.

We'll work with your team to turn this starting point into a tutoring model, staffing and schedule options, outcome goals, and application materials.

Scan to request a planning meeting.