WHAT THE RESEARCH SAYS ABOUT LEARNING BAGS

Twenty-first century learners are required to think critically about the world, collaborate and communicate with their peers, and solve complex problems, all while building literacy skills that will allow them to succeed inside and outside the classroom. Yet, they are constantly distracted by the overload of stimuli in their environments. With so many competing interests and so much to do all the time, how can we motivate our students to learn at home, especially during the summer, and engage them in meaningful but fun learning experiences?

The answer can be found with Catapult Learning's Student Reading and Activity Bags, which can contribute significantly to students' motivation and literacy skills. Each of our Learning Bags has been intentionally curated to promote effective at-home literacy support with engaging, creative, and interactive texts and resources. With every page and every activity, students are provided an opportunity to stretch their reading abilities and experience the pleasure of fluent reading, as well as engage in hands-on exploratory learning connected to the real world. While the Reading Bags reflect a wide range of reading levels and interests, and support students in improving their literacy skills, the Activity Bags support inquiry-based learning and help students learn by doing. Our Learning Bags also help families better understand what their children are learning in school and how they can support those approaches, thereby enhancing the relationship between the family and school.

Catapult Learning's Student Reading and Activity Bags also offer these added benefits:

- Establish a regular family reading routine and help families set aside a few minutes of learning each day, whether after school or during the summer
- Allow all families, regardless of their culture, education level, or English language proficiency, to feel that they are directly involved in their child's learning
- Provide parents with a structure and model for reading and playing with their children
- Engage children, young and old, in interactive reading and learning that ignites their enthusiasm and sparks their curiosity
- Build an awareness of the breadth of books and activities that exist across content areas and grade bands
- Show parents how to help their children connect what they read in books and what they learn in class to what is happening in the world around them
- Stimulate discussions between children and their families

This year, our catalog features over 30 themes across content areas and grades K-12. We are confident that no matter who your students are, you will find a Reading or Activity Bag that meets their specific needs and motivates them to develop the habits of lifelong readers and learners.

CAREGIVER SUPPORT BAGS

Parents and caregivers are often at the frontlines as their children grow and change. During these unprecedented times, we have seen families rise to the challenge of ensuring that their children have both the academic resources they need to succeed, and support for their social and emotional needs. Nurturing a child and cultivating a stimulating environment where they can safely learn, play, grow, and explore can indeed be taxing. Even for parents and caregivers who have unlimited resources and support, managing responsibilities and striving for a healthy work-life balance can be almost impossible. For those who lack resources and support, these challenges are even harder to tackle.

Catapult Learning's Caregiver Support Reading Bags are designed to provide parents and caregivers with added resources as they tackle today's unique demands. From learning to listen to their children and helping them manage stress and anxiety, to mastering self-care and mindfulness as an adult, the resources in this bag offer a wide array of approaches to promote optimal child development and effective strategies that families can add to their repertoire of comprehensive parenting tools, while also addressing caregivers' unique needs. The Caregiver Support Reading Bag will support parents and caregivers with the following:

- Help them to be kind to themselves, so they are better able to juggle impossible demands
- Set realistic and achievable goals for themselves and work with their children to do the same
- Practice mindfulness and self-care and teach their children how to use these skills to manage their anxiety
- Focus on what they are doing right now, without getting caught up in the future or past
- Develop positive, healthy coping skills and model them for their children
- Help their children to navigate difficult situations
- Use positive attention to reinforce good behaviors and to teach their children what/what not to do
- Validate their children's feelings as they share their wins, disappointments, fears, and dreams and learn how to reassure them that everything will be fine
- Learn how to address mental health challenges as a family and identify strategies to overcome them

As caregivers use these resources, our hope is that they will know that they are not alone and will develop a growth mindset around some of these challenges that are prevalent in many households.
